THE I.Q. TEST STRETCHED SPIKE'S MENTAL CAPACITY TO ITS ABSOLUTE LIMIT, OPENING THE DARK LANDSCAPE OF HIS MIND TO THOUGHTS AND IDEAS DENIED TO HIM AT ALL TIMES BEFORE. A SIMILAR SITUATION OCCURRED ONLY ONCE BEFORE. IT WAS IN THE FALL OF 1944. SPIKE WAS VISITING HIS BROTHER AND HIS BROTHER'S UNCLE LARRY WHO WERE BACK IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD UP THE BLOCK TO "SHOOT BASKETBALL HOOP." AFTER A QUICK GAME OF 1 ON 1 ENDED IN THE CRUSHING DEFEAT OF SPIKE, LARRY SUGGESTED THEY TAKE A BREAK. WHILE RELAXING UNDER A SHADE TREE, YOUNG SPIKE OBSERVED A LINE OF ANTS ASCENDING THE FACE OF THE TREE. THE CONSTANT RIPPLE AND SWAY OF THE MARCHING INSECT HYPNOTIZED THE WEARILY ATHLETE, SENDING HIM ON A MENTAL JOURNEY NEVER EXPERIENCED BEFORE. THE MEMORY HAUNTS HIM TO THIS DAY.
